

CANDY SEEDLESS TABLE GRAPES

Availability: May – August

Created by International Fruit Genetics (IFG) in Bakersfield, CA, these confection-inspired organic grape varieties were developed using traditional plant breeding methods.

Candy Dream

Color: Black

Crisp and intensely flavored, Candy Dream is reminiscent of classic Concord and berry jam. These grapes grow in generously sized bunches.

Candy Hearts

Color: Red

With hints of raspberry candy flavor and a satisfying crunch, these grapes are sure to cure a sweet tooth or cravings for something snackable. Often displaying a powdery white bloom, Candy Heart grows in loose bunches.

Candy Snap

Color: Red

Thin skinned, high in sugar and low in acid, these grapes have an intensely sweet flavor with undertones of tropical fruit. Lightly tangy, this crunchy grape is satisfying.

Cotton Candy

Color: Green

Easily the most well-known of all candy grapes, Cotton Candy tastes just like the name suggests. Succulent and sweet, these grapes are medium-to-large in size.

Gummy Berries

Color: Red

With a flavor compared to strawberry gummy candy and an almost chewy texture, this grape lives up to its name. Super sweet and shiny, kids love these grapes!

Jelly Berries

Color: Black

A Thomcord and Concord cross, this variety's flavor brings to mind grape jam. High in antioxidants, it's super sweet and healthy, too!

SPECIALTY TABLE GRAPES

Availability: July – October

Including seeded, nearly seedless and seedless varieties in a range of colors and flavors, there's an ideal grape for every eater. Grapes currently named with IFG numbers are varieties that are still under trial that may receive an official marketing name in the future.

Concord

Color: Purple-blue

This seeded grape is a slip-skin variety meaning the skin removes easily from the flesh. Big in flavor, Concord is delicious eaten fresh and well-known as an ideal variety for juicing, jamming and wine making.

IFG 34

Color: Red

This Concord and Muscat cross is considered the sweetest of all the IFG grapes. Seedless and crunchy, this is a fantastic variety for snacking.

IFG 35

Color: Green

Fans of Cotton Candy will love what is described as its lychee-flavored sister. Super sweet, seedless and tropical in flavor, this grape has thin skin and is ideal for eating fresh out of hand.

IFG 38

Color: Green

With a satisfying crunch and a Muscat-like flavor, this seedless grape is ideal for snacking and great on cheese plates.

IFG 39

Color: Green

Elongated in shape with round tips and strong Muscat flavor, this seedless variety is delicious and attractive.

IFG 42

Color: Green

Described as diamond shaped, being wider at the stem end and tapering at the tip, look for the distinctive shape of this grape to tell it apart from other green varieties. Crisp, juicy and seedless, this tangy and sweet variety is delicious.

IFG 44

Color: Red

Tasting of Muscat and Concord, this variety boasts a deep grape flavor with tropical undertones. Seedless, crunchy and very snackable.

NW Interlaken

Color: Green

Delicious for fresh eating, juicing and making raisins, this seedless variety is crisp, tangy and sweet.

Julep

Color: Black

The complex flavor of this stunning grape has notes of slightly spicy Lambrusco, tropical fruit and a faint hint of mint. This seedless grape is not to be missed.

NW Jupiter

Color: Purple-blue

Deepening in color as they ripen to nearly blue, this seedless grape is flavorful, crunchy and delicious for fresh eating. With notes of Muscat, its flavor has hints of tropical fruit like lychee, and a light floral scent.

Muscat

Color: Green

Frequently associated with wine making, but also delicious eaten fresh out of hand, Muscat grapes are seedless, moderately sweet with a subtle musky flavor and notes of tropical fruit.

Quip

Color: Green

Easily recognizable by their long shape, this variety is known as a “finger grape.” Sweet, slightly tangy and refreshing, Quip is fun to eat and looks great on the plate.

Red Globe

Color: Red

Mildly sweet with a succulent texture and big round berries, this seeded grape is dark ruby red when fully ripe.

NW Reliance

Color: Red

The deep-red color of this seedless grape is a feast for the eyes and its intense flavor and aroma complete the package. High in sugar, Reliance is great for fresh eating and cooking.

Sable

Color: Black

This dramatically hued seedless variety has thicker skin, giving it a satisfying chewy texture. With undertones of tropical fruit and a subtle muskiness, Sable is very sweet making it great for snacking and cooking.

Sweet Mayabelle

Color: Red

Crunchy and with Muscat-like flavor, eaters will enjoy the tropical notes in this grape. As the name suggests, this seedless grape is sweet and satisfying.

Thomcord

Color: Blue-black

Plump, juicy and nearly seedless Thomcord has an irresistible flavor described as grape jam. With slightly thicker skin than other varieties, lending a satisfying chewy texture, Thomcord is delightful eaten fresh out of hand. Also available from the Northwest later in the season.

SEEDLESS TABLE GRAPES

Availability: Peru: January-March, Mexico & Southern California: May-June, Central California: July-October

With nearly year-round availability, these grapes are always in demand!

Black Seedless

Known for a blueish-purple color that makes them appear almost black, these table grapes are high in antioxidants and packed with sweet flavor. Their aromatic skin boasts a delightfully chewy texture. Summer Royal, Autumn Royal and Adora are typical varieties with more throughout the season.

Green Seedless

Packed with vitamins, minerals and flavor, green table grapes are a staple fruit. Eaters that prefer grapes with a tad more tartness along with sweetness should opt for green. Typical varieties include Sugarone, Autumn King and Stella Bella and more throughout the season.

Red Seedless

Fans of sweetness can look to red grapes to cure cravings. Crisp and juicy, these grapes are often what eaters think of when imagining the “typical” grape. Varieties include Flame, Scarlett Royal and Timco along with others throughout the season.
